Lansing Colony in Cuba

We have a large tract of the richest Cuban lands, located in the best part of the island, on one of the best railroads, near two of the finest harbors.
We have set aside 1000 acres for sale in small tracts, at a very low price, on extremely easy terms.

This is an opportunity to buy lands at the right price in the greatest country in the world. Land values in Cuba are rising rapidly.

These lands will double in value during the next three years. They will be worth five times the amount you can buy them for inside of ten years. By setting them to oranges, lemons and grapefruit they will be worth tenfold their present price in five years.

These lands are as well suited for growing oranges, lemons, grape fruit, vegetables and other land products as any on the island.

They can be made to pay an immense profit yearly. Fruits net growers from $350 to $800 an acre; pineapples from $100 to $150; vegetables from $100 to $300, and sugar cane from $60 to $150. Net returns of these amounts per acre is the rule in Cuba.

A number of Michigan men have bought lands of us and are now located on them. One of the most prominent farmers of Clinton county, after visiting our property, purchased a large tract of us and has gone to Cuba to live. Another prominent farmer of Ingham county, who visited our lands recently, purchased 40 acres of us, and is arranging to go to Cuba to locate. Write us at once for particulars. We shall be glad to tell you about our lands.

Boy Killed Accidentally.

Rollin Hood, nine year old son of Wallace Hood, Alger avenue, was killed Saturday morning while playing with a shot gun. Having fired off a rifle in the yard, he went back to the house and got the shot gun from a closet, put a cartridge in and in trying to get around in the room the gun was fired off the charge of shot from a twelve gauge shell entering the boy's left breast killing him. Dr. Arnold was called but decided that death had been instantaneous, and Coroner Loring decided an inquest unnecessary.

The boy's mother died a few years ago leaving the father with nine children to care for, two of whom have since died.

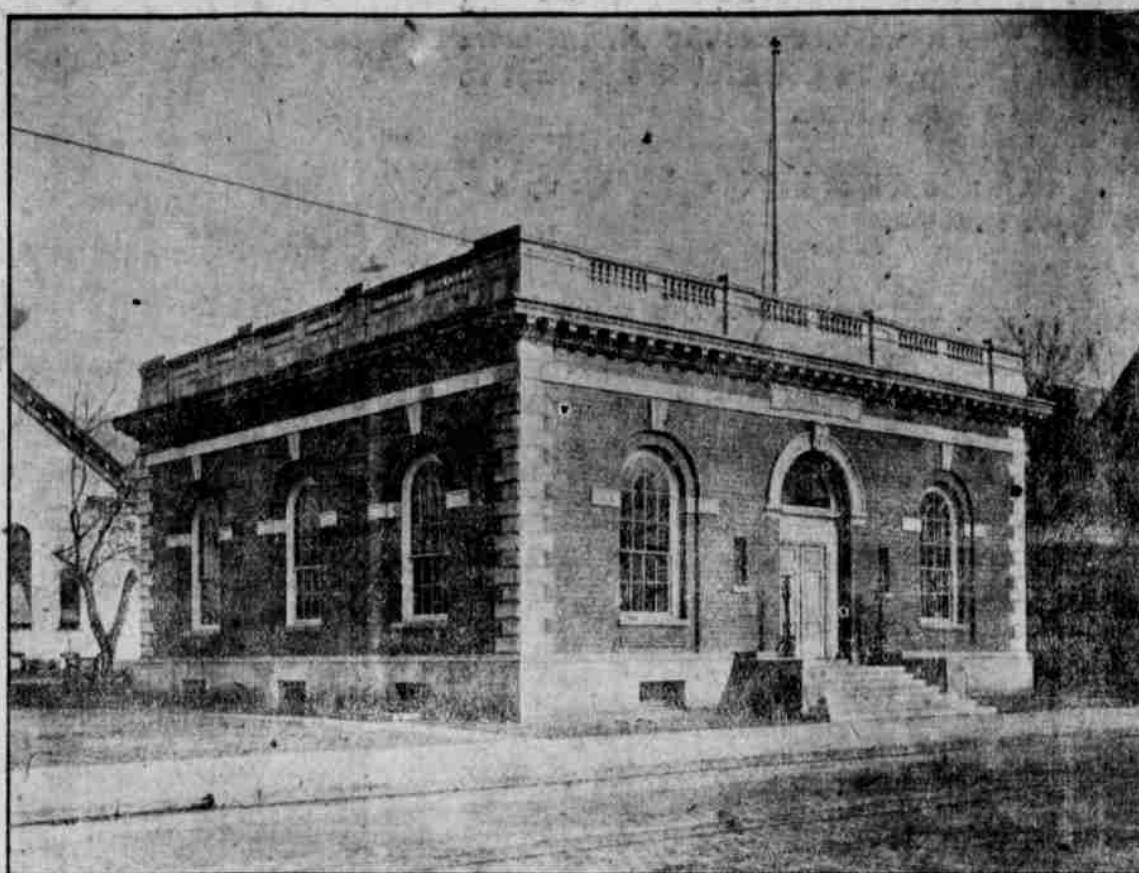

The funeral was held Tuesday at Cornua Ave. church, Rev. C. H. Hanks officiating.

NEW POST OFFICE AT ADRIAN.

Through the courtesy of the Adrian Telegram we are able to give our readers a view of the new government post office building just completed in that enterprising city. Adrian received an appropriation of $40,000 for the building and citizens donated the site. The Telegram says: "This new structure, so local builders tell us, is one of the finest in point of construction in this section of the country. All sorts of opinions have been advanced as the work has been progressing, and it must be admitted that the bulk of the opinions have been adverse. Sentiment against the building has been changing considerably in the past few weeks, and now everybody is about ready to agree that it is a pretty good building after all." It is built of brick with stone trimmings. With $55,000 of the $60,000 appropriation available for building purposes, Owosso should get a stone building somewhat larger than the Adrian building.

Bishop Williams' Visit.

The Right Reverend C. D. Williams, D. D., bishop of the Eastern diocese of Michigan, will be in Owosso next Sunday and confirm a class at Christ Episcopal church. He will preach a sermon and confirm the class at 10 a. m. and address the congregation at the vesper service at 4 p. m. He will also confirm a class in Cornua.

The Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Walsh entertained the indoor picnic club Friday evening. The Colonial club met with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Southard last Friday evening. The Reigny Day club were guests of Mrs. I. H. Keeler Tuesday afternoon. The Fourteen spent yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Clara Christian. The Bay View Reading Club held an interesting meeting with Mrs. H. H. Daniels, Monday.

Circuit Court.

The case of the Harrison Wagon Works against Ford Brown, of Durand, was taken from the jury, Tuesday, the supreme court's ruling leaving no case for plaintiff. A verdict on the first trial of $340 was given plaintiff but the supreme court reversed the decision.

It is probable that the cases of Hunkins vs. Kent, in which plaintiff was given a verdict of $46, the case having been appealed from a justice court and of Judd vs. township of Caledonia, in which plaintiff was given a verdict of $500 will be appealed to the supreme court. The plaintiff in the latter case does not think he received as much as ought.

Edward Judd was given a verdict of $500 against Caledonia township by a jury in the circuit court Friday for injuries received by being thrown from his buggy when his horse became frightened by a pile of sand near a bridge that had been repaired.

The jury in the circuit court in the case of the People vs. John Bessinger brought in a verdict of not guilty after being out but a few minutes. He was accused of over-driving a horse belonging to J. L. Moss, but the testimony was such that the jury evidently believed that even living was about all the horse in the case was able to do.

Death of L. A. Hamblin.

By the death of Lawrence A. Hamblin, which occurred Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osburn, Owosso loses another of its respected business men. Mr. Hamblin had been in poor health for a long time, in fact, ever since the death of his wife three years ago, but for five weeks had been confined to the house by an attack of jaundice. His condition was considered critical for several days two weeks ago but he rallied and seemed to have a fair chance for recovery when a sudden turn came and he passed away.

Mr. Hamblin was born at Port Byron, N. Y., Aug. 31, 1841, and came to Owosso in 1865, having lived for a short time at Cincinnati, Ohio, just previous to coming here. He engaged in the foundry business shortly after his arrival in Owosso with his uncle, C. W. Clapp, and his brother E. G. Hamblin, in the building now occupied by Sturtevant & Blood on South Washington street. After retiring from this business, Mr. Hamblin was appointed to the railway mail service, serving several years. In 1876 he was appointed postmaster of this city to fill vacancy and was subsequently appointed for two full terms, serving the community in a most acceptable manner for ten years.

After this he engaged in the wholesale tobacco business as a member of the firm of Dawes, Hamblin & Miller, and later on in the real estate and insurance business which he continued to the time of his death. After retiring from the postmastership Mr. Hamblin was frequently urged to accept some public position in the city but always declined, although he was deeply interested in all that pertained to the welfare of the city. In his political relations he was an active republican.

In 1878 he was united in marriage to Minnie G. Wygant, of Cohoctah, N. Y., whose sudden death three years ago was a blow from which Mr. Hamblin never fully rallied.

He was an enthusiastic member of the B. P. O. Elks and did much to bring about the purchase and enlargement of the fine Temple owned by this order, at the time of its dedication he was chairman of the house committee. While not a member, Mr. Hamblin was for many years a regular attendant at the Congregational church, being ready and willing to assist in caring for its interests.

In his every day life with the people he was ever genial, sociable and public spirited—in short a good citizen, whose friendship was highly prized by all.

Mr. Hamblin is survived by one brother, Mr. E. G. Hamblin, of Lansing, and a half sister and brother, Mrs. Fred Osburn, of this city, and Mr. Charles Hathaway, of Rochester, N. Y.

The funeral services will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osburn at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. C. H. Hanks officiating. The pall bearers will be members of the Elks. Among those here for the funeral, besides his brothers, are Mrs. W. S. George, and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bradner, of Lansing.

Sandbagged.

George Schlaack, eighteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schlaack, Chipman street, was sandbagged by hold-up men Wednesday evening on the Grand Trunk track near the coal banks. He was chloroformed and searched, but luckily had no money or valuables with him. After recovering consciousness he crawled home and Dr. P. S. Willson worked over him for several hours. He was in a serious condition part of the night, but recovered yesterday and is out of danger.

Death of George R. Warren.

After a sickness of several months with Bright's disease, George R. Warren, one of the pioneers of Bennington, died at his home in the village, aged 75 years. Mr. Warren was born in England, coming to this country when 14 years of age, residing for a time at Rochester, N. Y., removing to Shiawassee county in December, 1854, where he has since resided except for a few months spent in Illinois. He cleared a splendid farm and made it his home until two years ago when he moved to the village. He was counted as one of the best citizens of his township, a man of good principles, interested in the welfare of his community.

He is survived by his wife and two children, Fred S. Warren and Mrs. C. J. Shadbolt. The funeral services were held Monday morning.
